Full Time Experience

Under the Real Estate Law, an applicant for broker license must have at least two years of active full-time licensed experience as a real estate salesperson performing activities requiring a license or the equivalent. The experience must be gained during the five-year period immediately preceding the date of application. Possession of a salesperson license without actual licensed experience is not sufficient to meet the experience requirement. Experience completed while in a No Broker Affiliation (NBA) status will not be accepted.

Full time experience means at least 40 hours per week. If applicant worked less than 40 hours per week, credit is granted on a prorated basis. Time is not awarded if applicant devoted less than 10 hours per week. If applicant had any other employment, it must be set forth where indicated even though 40 or less hours are devoted to an employing broker.

Applicants who claim low or no transaction volume may require additional explanations be provided to the Department, including an explanation from the employing broker as to the reason(s) for the low or no volume.

Applicants who are licensed in another state(s) must use this form, listing the state(s) they are licensed in and providing all other relevant information requested on the form.

Equivalent Experience

Applications for equivalent experience by an unlicensed person must be submitted on an Equivalent Experience Verification (RE 227) form. Refer to the Instructions To License Applicants brochure or the Department's website for more information.

Employment Certifications

If it is impossible to secure certifications of employment from former employing brokers, the applicant must complete the Employment Verification (RE 226) in full and indicate the reason why applicant could not obtain broker's signature in the space labeled "Signature of Certifying Broker" (i.e., deceased, litigation, etc.). The applicant must also attach at least two Employment Certification forms (RE 228) from persons in a position to attest to applicant's experience and activity with that employing broker. Out-of-state brokers who are self-employed must also use this format, since we cannot accept an applicant's own verification.
